

Fairy Tale Retelling of Cinderella: Fairy Tales of the Magicorum

Once upon a time, in a faraway land, there lived a beautiful young maiden named Ella. She was kind and gentle, but she was also very shy. She lived with her wicked stepmother and two stepsisters, who were always cruel to her. They made her do all the chores, and they never let her go to the balls or parties.

One day, a prince came to town. He was looking for a bride, and he invited all the eligible young women to a grand ball. Ella's stepsisters were excited to go to the ball, but they refused to let Ella go. They said she was too plain and too shy.

Ella was heartbroken. She longed to go to the ball and meet the prince. But she knew that her stepsisters would never let her go.

That night, as Ella was crying in her room, a beautiful fairy appeared before her. The fairy said that she knew how much Ella wanted to go to the ball, and she was going to make her wish come true.

The fairy waved her wand, and Ella was transformed. Her rags turned into a beautiful gown, and her wooden shoes turned into glass slippers. The fairy also gave Ella a pumpkin that had been turned into a golden carriage, and a team of white mice that had been turned into horses.

Ella was overjoyed. She thanked the fairy and rode off to the ball in her pumpkin carriage.

When Ella arrived at the ball, everyone gasped in amazement. She was the most beautiful woman there. The prince was immediately smitten with her, and they danced all night long.

At midnight, Ella had to leave the ball. She hurried away, leaving behind one of her glass slippers.

The prince found the glass slipper and vowed to find the woman who it belonged to. He searched the entire kingdom, and finally, he found Ella.

Ella and the prince were married, and they lived happily ever after.
